Budget to Congress, No Increase In The National Debt

President Asks
That Taxes be Held
At Present Levels,
Not Time to Cut

By the Associated Press

Outgo	$35,860,000,000
Income	31,513,000,000
Deficit	4,347,000,000
Present debt	278,000,000,000
Debt June 30, 1947	271,000,000,000
Reduction (by drawing on Treasury bal.)	$7,000,000,000

By William A. Kinney
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—President Truman presented a $35,860,000,000 federal budget to congress today with his assurance that for the first time in 17 years no increase in the national debt will take place.

Military expenditures and the aftermath of war account for almost three fourths of the budget total.

The president estimated that the government will raise $31,513,000,000 toward meeting the bill for the fiscal year beginning July 1, thus leaving a deficit of $4,347,000,000.

The deficit, however, will be taken care of, he said, "by a reduction in the very substantial balance which will be in the treasury during the next fiscal year."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The government's budget for 1947 may never be a lending library hit, but it's bound to be one of the biggest things in the publishing business this year.

President Truman called for a truck and sent it up to congress today. Now it's no trouble at all to find out exactly how the U. S. plans to spend $35,124,982,043 in the fiscal year ending June 10, 1947.

All you have to do is wade through 3 pounds 11½ ounces of reading matter, neatly tabulated on 886 large pages.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—In fact the debt itself will be pared from its present $278,000,000,000 to $271,000,000,000 18 months hence.

Hold Taxes at Levels

Mr. Truman, however, called for taxes to be held at present levels.

"Inflationary pressures still appear dangerously powerful," he told congress in his annual budget message; "and ill-advised tax reduction would operate to strengthen them still further."

"This is not the time for tax reduction."

Comparing the new 1947 budget with the current one, the chief executive said that with war spending cutback the total for the 1946 fiscal year now is estimated at $67,200,000,000. Receipts are placed at $38,600,000,000, leaving a deficit of $28,600,000,000.

Salient Features

1. National defense, occupation and war liquidation will cost $15,000,000,000, including $1,200,000,000 for UNRRA.

2. Veterans' pensions and benefits are set down for $4,208,000,000.

3. $5,000,000,000 is earmarked for servicing the war-swollen national debt.

4. Provision is made for continued work in the field of atomic energy, but this is a secret item and the funds involved were not disclosed.

5. International financial program will require $2,754,000,000. These include the Bretton Woods agreements, export-import bank operations and expenditures arising from the proposed loan of $3,750,000,000 to Britain.

6. General government running expenses are estimated at $1,565,000,000 exclusive of army and navy, agricultural aids, public works and social security payments.

7. More than $2,000,000,000 is included for aids to agriculture and for the commodity credit corporation, largely for price stabilization and price support resulting from the war food production program.

Highlights From Message To Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—President Truman called on congress today to retain food subsidies as one means of combating inflation and a possible eight per cent jump in the cost of living index for food.

This request, made in the chief executive's state of the union and budget message, represents an about-face by the administration on subsidies. It had planned to end most of them by their June 30 expiration date.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Appropriation of nearly a third of a billion dollars for flood control and rivers and harbors projects was recommended to congress today by President Truman.

In his 1947 Budget message, the President asked that the army engineers be given $212,720,000 for rivers and harbors projects was recommended to congress today by President Truman.

In his 1947 budget message, the President asked that the army engineers be given $212,720,000 for rivers and harbors projects and $110,000,000 for flood control. The appropriations for the 1946 fiscal year were $191,489,600 and $118,299,600 respectively.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Quotations from President Truman's message to congress on the state of the union and the budget:

In general, the outlook for business is good, and it is likely to continue to be good—provided we control inflation and achieve peace in management-labor relations.

Our chief worry still is inflation.

The most serious deficiencies will persist in the fields of residential housing, building materials, and consumers' durable goods. The critical situation makes continued rent control, price control, and priorities, allocations, and inventory controls absolutely essential. Continued control of consumer credit will help to reduce the pressure on prices of durable goods. x x x

The most serious difficulty in the path of reconversion and expansion is the establishment of a fair wage structure. x x x

Most industries and most companies have adequate leeway within which to grant substantial wage increases.

Fact Finding Body Called in WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—President Truman conferred with congressional leaders on the strike situation and called in his steel fact-finders today, but a White House aide said no immediate action was in prospect.

One high administration official told reporters, however, that he did not see how government seizure of strike-bound meat packing plants can be avoided. He said he was recommending such a step. Some other White House advisers, who also could not be named, were known to concur in this view.

On the other hand, these officials say there is little likelihood of any seizure in the steel industry until the strike has been in progress a few days at least.

Talked At Length
Legislative leaders told newsmen the president discussed the steel strike with them at some length, citing figures in support of his belief that the companies could afford to accept his recommendation for an 18½ cents an hour pay increase. Those present were senators Hill (D-Ala.) and McKellar (D-Tenn.), and Rep. McCormack (D-Mass.)

After the congressional leaders returned to the capitol, Mr. Truman summoned the three members of his steel fact-finding board—Nathan Feinsinger, James M. Douglas and Roger I. McDonough—for what Ross described as a discussion of "the future conduct of that inquiry."

Hearse Solves Housing
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 21.—(AP)—E. T. Sarman arrived here from Bainbridge, Ind., in a hearse, but made it clear today he's vacation — not graveyard — bound.
He said he bought the vehicle to cope with the housing shortage during his trip.
"I put a bed in it in case I couldn't find a hotel room, and had to use it, too," Sarman said. "It was very comfortable."

Farm Man of University Club Speaker

Tells Rotarians
Of the Four Point
Farm Program

J. W. Burch, director of Missouri Extension Service of the University of Missouri, was the speaker at the Rotary meeting at noon today at the Bothwell hotel, speaking on the subject, "The Farm Program is the One That Farm People Want."

Mr. Burch, who is one of the outstanding extension leaders in the United States, was introduced by J. U. Morris, county extension agent.

Presenting the four point program Mr. Burch spoke on the first point, policies that should be followed. He stated that farm production during war time increased thirty-five per cent while the increase in consumption was fifteen per cent. "This," he said, "is a present day problem. We want a higher standard of living for all people. Production of crops is desired to the extent that soil is not injured. High industrial employment of all farm people is desired. This means greater production and prevents higher taxes. Farm people are interested that there be no inflation as that which followed the last war."

The second point was the problem of rural youth, which is the most important part of the farm program, he said.

The third point was the balanced farm program in which he explained what crops are best for conservation of soil and to have a desired income. Farm income should increase as farm land and livestock is improved, he said, adding that technical help is needed also satisfactory machinery for tilling and other soil improvements.

He stressed the fourth point of the program which was farm and homestead improvement service. Eighty-seven per cent of the farm women, he stated, still have to carry water into their homes.

Salary Report To Council

A bi-partisan committee, to investigate and recommend changes in the salaries of the elective officials of Sedalia, if found advisable, will report to the City Council in the open meeting tonight. The Committee was appointed by the Mayor and Council several weeks ago, and Sunday completed their meetings and drafted their recommendations.

The committee, in preparing recommendations, obtained information from other cities of like size of Sedalia and checked the income to ascertain if it would be necessary to increase the tax levy to hike the salaries.

Members of the committee are: Henry C. Salveter, L. W. Satorius, D. Kelly Scruton, Fred Rose, G. O. Hawley, R. M. Battles, Emmett Sullivan and B. B. Bess.

Communists Want to Name New President

To Succeed Gen.
DeGaulle of France,
Who Resigned

By James M. Long
PARIS, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The Communist party launched a drive today to name a Communist as the successor to Gen. Charles De Gaulle, who resigned the provisional presidency of France last night following a cabinet crisis.

De Gaulle stepped down from the presidency with an announcement that he considered he had completed the task of "leading the country toward liberation, victory and sovereignty."

In a letter of resignation addressed to Felix Gouin, president of the constituent assembly, he said:

"If I agreed to remain at this government post after November 13, 1945, it was to respond to the unanimity with which the National Constituent Assembly addressed itself to me to make care of a necessary transition. Today that transition has been effected. Besides, France, after great trials, no longer is in an alarming situation . . ."

Special Conference

Party leaders met in a special conference and were expected to call the assembly into session either later today or tomorrow.

De Gaulle cancelled a radio talk to the nation that he had scheduled for tonight, and reportedly left Paris, presumably for seclusion in the country while he waited for the constituent assembly to act on his resignation.

Although his secretary said the resignation was "irrevocable," some political sources predicted De Gaulle might be prevailed upon to form a new government or to reconsider his resignation. The latter source said the announcement he would retire from public life had been "a political gaffe (blunder)."

Might Be Rejected

There were some reports that the resignation might be rejected by the assembly. Other quarters said that if the resignation were accepted De Gaulle might run again, this time as head of his own party. Heretofore he has stood alone, without a party.

The Communists, after holding a conference with representatives of the more conservative popular Republican movement party (MRP), announced that they would demand that a Communist be elected provisional president. They immediately advanced the name of their minister of state, Maurice Thorez, as De Gaulle's successor. Vincent Auriol, the Socialist minister of state, was considered another likely candidate in authoritative political circles, which also talked of a Socialist-Communist government headed by a Radical-Socialist, perhaps pre-war Premier Eduard Herriot.

Coyote Loose In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Police were kept busy here yesterday answering telephone calls from persons reporting a coyote on the loose. The animal was tracked down and shot.

Today they had a call from Thomas Russell, who found a wash tub in the doorway of his moving and storage company office containing a live, four-foot alligator.

"I don't know how he got here—probably by some practical joker," Russell said.

Police said the reptile would be turned over to the humane society.

Pearson Watches Strike "Merry-Go-Round"

Final Showdown After Hours Of White House Negotiations

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Final showdown in the steel negotiations came after 48 hours of bizarre White House negotiations during part of which Phil Murray and Ben Fairless did nothing but read the newspapers and during which President Truman was in the middle of a family tug-of-war between conservative and liberal braintrusts.

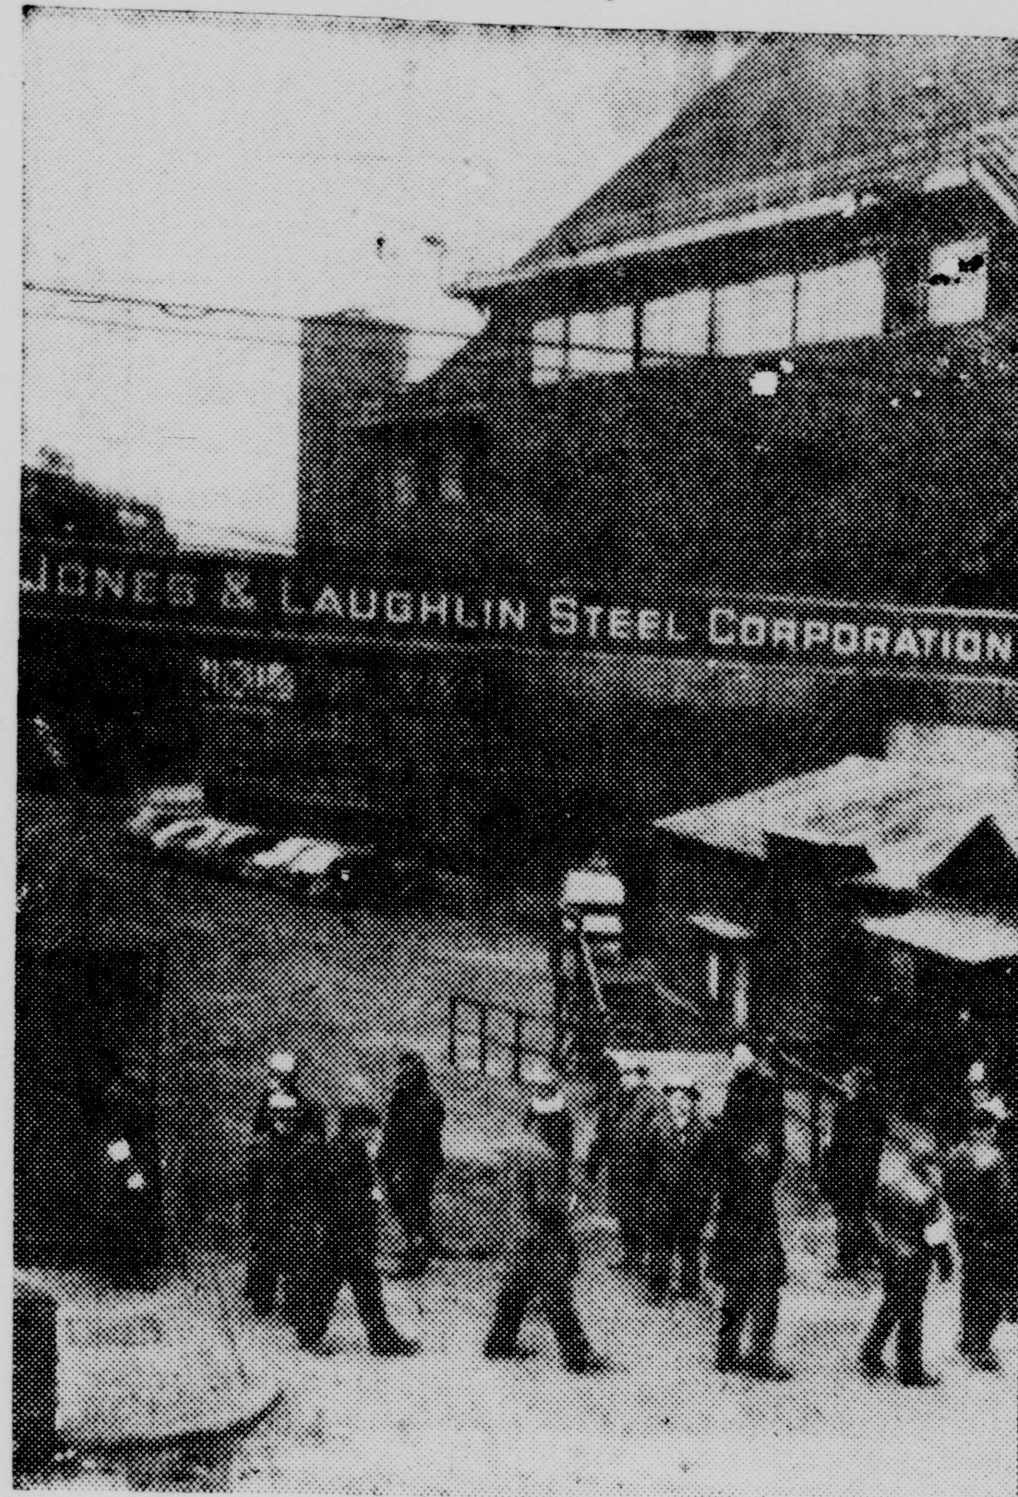

Some advisers wanted him to refrain from taking sides, urged that he let labor and the steel industry battle it out.

Reconversion boss John Snyder was in this group.

Other advisers argued that a hands-off attitude meant throwing the nation into a long and serious strike with an eventual victory for capital and a low wage for industry. They wanted Truman to intervene. Postmaster General Bob Hannegan was the leader of this group.

Truman followed Hannegan's advice, but only after some of the most peculiar negotiating ever

Truman Going to Florida

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The White House reported today that President Truman may take a short vacation in Florida next month.

Questioned about a report that the President was planning to meet Winston Churchill, who is vacationing at Miami Beach, press secretary Charles G. Ross told a news conference he knew nothing of plans of that nature.

But in reply to further questions, Ross said: "The President may possibly take a short vacation which may take him to Florida. Plans for that are quite tentative."

If such a trip is taken, Ross added, it will be in advance of the President's appearance at Fulton, Mo., March 5 to introduce Churchill for a speech at Westminster college.

Honor Draft Board Members

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Fifty-four members of local selective service boards from each state and territory today were to receive medals from President Truman for "faithful and loyal service."

The 54 chosen by lot in their respective states and territories to represent approximately 100,000 members of selective service boards, have served without compensation for more than five years.

Later, in the states and territories, the other board members who have served two years or more will be presented similar medals by their respective governors, who are heads of the state selective service systems.

Six Sedalians will also receive similar medals from Governor Phil M. Donnelly in Jefferson City Friday for faithful and loyal service on the Pettis county selective service board. They are H. C. Feuers, C. R. Bothwell, George H. Trader, Edward P. Mullaley and George R. Wilkerson, who served as board members and Henry C. Salveter, attorney appeal agent.

Two Business Houses Robbed

Two business establishments were entered sometime Saturday and Sunday, one place twice.

The Dr. Pepper Bottling Plant, 927 South Limit avenue, was entered sometime Saturday night or early Monday. Entrance to the place was gained by breaking a small glass in a window on the south side of the building and unlocking it.

Four screw drivers, one wrench, three crown pens, and one quart of wine were stolen.

The Crouch Grocery, 810 West Sixteenth street, was entered twice during the past few days. The store has been closed for several weeks.

Sunday morning the police were called and went to the store where they found a window pried open. Missing were about fifty pennies, and several packages of cigarettes. Today another call was received to go to the store and another window was found pried open, but nothing was found to be missing.

Farm Machinery Workers on Strike

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Production halted at 11:30 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) today in 10 plants of the International Harvester Co. in three states when 30,000 employees walked out in support of demands for a 30 per cent wage increase.

The plants affected by the CIO United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers Union included five in Chicago. The others are in Rock Island, East Moline and Rock Falls, Ill., Richmond, Ind., and Auburn, N. Y.

Picket lines were established, but there were no reports of disorder.

Greatest Strike In American History Blankets the Nation

Steel Strike Will Continue, States Murray

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(AP)—President Philip Murray of the CIO United Steelworkers declared today the steel strike will continue "until this industry accepts the decision of the president of the United States."

He referred to President Truman's recommendation that steelworkers' wage dispute be settled with an increase of 18½ cents an hour, which was rejected by the U. S. steel corporation.

Murray said at a press conference at his union's national headquarters — brain center of the vast strike:

"If reconversion has been hindered and thousands of people have been thrown out of work . . . if disaster overtakes our nation — it is not because the steel workers called a strike. It is because industry has said 'No' to the president of the United States."

"Brazen," Says Murray

Asked whether the union might revert to its original $2-a-day (for an eight hour work day) demand, Murray replied:

"I'm accepting the president's proposal unless I'm authorized to change my position by the union's wage policy committee meeting here Wednesday."

Murray said "industry contends" the union is violating its contract by striking, and added:

"This to me is the most brazen piece of business I ever witnessed in my life."

"It is commonly known and generally accepted," he continued, that the union contract provides for reopening of the wage clause, and "the national war labor board so stated."

Questions Reasoning

Emphasizing each word, the union leader went on: "Industry evidently contends it has the right and the exercise of that right to say the union can't get a penny or five pennies . . . through collective bargaining. That is a far-fetched piece of reasoning, and utterly nonsensical. It evidences subtle efforts of big business to destroy collective bargaining and labor unions in the United States of America."

Murray said the union's "no strike" clause deals exclusively with grievances arising out of the existing contract, and not with the part of the contract which incorporates NWLB instructions on wages.

New State Tax Commission

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly appointed a new state tax commission today—first new administrative agency to be set up under the 1945 constitution.

Two of the appointees were members of the old commission which automatically went out of existence when the governor signed legislation setting up the new agency. They are Clarence Evans (D) of Paris, who will again be chairman, and Jesse A. Mitchell (R.) of Ava, who formerly served as chairman.

The third commissioner is Charles A. Miller (D) of Kansas City, an associate of Sen. Frank L. Wilkinson in a real estate business. Miller's appointment shifts the political complexion of the commission from Republican to Democratic, the third position formerly having been held by J. T. Waddill (R) of Kirksville.

Evans was named for a six-year term, Mitchell for four years and Miller for two. After the initial terms, commissioners will serve for six years. Each draw $5,000 a year, compared with $5,000 for the chairman and $4,500 for the other commissioners in the old setup.

Called to St. Louis By Mother's Illness

C. O. "Dutch" Hawley, 1100 East Sixteenth street, left this afternoon for St. Louis, where he was called by the sudden illness of his mother Mrs. Rude Denton, 3947 Keokuk avenue.
Mrs. Denton suffered a stroke Sunday night and her condition was reported as being critical.

750,000 Workers,
1,300 Plants are Involved, Picket
Lines are set up

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The strike of 750,000 CIO Steelworkers for higher pay—the greatest strike in American history and one of the most far-reaching — started today in grim quietness.

The strike blanketed the nation. About 1,300 plants, ranging from the mills which make the steel to the shops which turn it into useful things like railroad rails or can-openers, shut down in 30 states.

In Pennsylvania, which produces one-third of the nation's steel, the strikers in snowy darkness and freezing cold set in motion around the shut-down plants the long, slow march of their picket lines. Picket lines set up elsewhere across the country.

No one here would guess how many days, or weeks or months that march of the pickets—to keep out of the plants anyone who might seek to take their jobs—would continue.

Showdown Fought

It was a showdown right between the steelworkers and the steelmakers. This country's hopes for a prosperous reconversion were involved critically because so much of American manufacturing uses steel and steel supplies are very small. A long-drawn out strike could break the back of reconversion.

The steel industry—according to a steel industry authority who should know—will lose through the strike about $10,000,000 a day in gross revenue it would have received on its steel sales if there had been no strike.

The industry's average daily wage has been computed at $8.69. At that rate, 750,000 workers will lose $6,517,500 each day they remain idle.

Quiet Picketing

The picketing started quietly. The strikers have had plenty of time to get ready for this day. Their wage negotiations with the steel industry had gone on for months and finally broke down Friday, despite the intercession of President Truman, who suggested a compromise. The union accepted Mr. Truman's proposal for a wage increase of 18½ cents an hour. The U. S. Steel Corporation, the giant which is the guiding star for most of the industry, rejected this figure and said it could not grant an increase or more than 15 cents an hour. The union, which at Mr. Truman's request had postponed its scheduled walkout for one week from Jan. 14, then said the strike must begin.

Shutdown At Midnight

It officially went into effect at 12:01 today in each locality. Actually, the strike started in some plants last Friday after CIO-United Steelworkers President Philip Murray's call for action. So did picketing. The vast majority of the workers finished their jobs Friday and Saturday. The industry began cooling of its furnaces then.

So by midnight Sunday most of the plants—U. S. Steel, for instance—were shut down, or ready to shut down.

The union has been arranging with various companies to let maintenance crews pass through the picket lines so the plants will not suffer damage by their inactivity.

Oust Banker As Chairman

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Byron W. Moser was ousted as chairman of the board of directors of the Mutual Bank and Trust company yesterday by a majority vote of the directors.

Lon O. Hocker, attorney for the bank, said the actor was taken following disclosure that Moser had sent letters to a number of the bank's stockholders offering to purchase their stock for $50 a share, without consulting other officers and directors of the bank.

Jacob M. Lashly, Moser's attorney, said: "Moser felt he was within his rights to undertake to purchase the stock from the stockholders without disclosing his plans to the directors, since stock ownership was outside the operation of the bank and had nothing to do with Moser's duties as chairman of the board."

Moser was instrumental in founding the bank in 1934.

Commander of the U. S. China Theatre a Diplomatic General

By Richard Cushing
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)
SHANGHAI, Jan. 21—Lt. Gen. Albert Cody Wedemeyer is a tall, grey-haired West Pointer who was surprised when the higher-ups sent him to command the U. S. China theater because he considered himself an authority on Germany.

Wedemeyer also is chief-of-staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. In this latter capacity he is somewhat closer to Chiang than was his predecessor in the job-blunt, outspoken Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell.

He is more the diplomat than was "Vinegar Joe." He and Chiang have had differences of opinion—there is not always perfect accord between the two—but in Wedemeyer's words "we have resolved these differences in a friendly atmosphere." He has the highest opinion of the generalissimo, whom he describes as "straightforward and cooperative."

Well Liked
Everybody seems to like Wedemeyer. The G.I.s like him because he takes them into his confidence on matters of their concern. He gets them home when their point scores justify. He likes to read their "beefs" in Stars and Stripes, and takes a genuine interest in their activities.

Wedemeyer has the job of telling his men that low pointers wouldn't be going home as quickly as they might have expected because of the president's new policy of aid to Chiang Kai-Shek. He reads paragraphs of Truman's speech which explains the reasons for American participation out here. Then he said in effect: "I'm sorry, boys, you'll have to stick with me a little while longer, but I promise I'll do all I can to get you home as soon as possible."

G.I.s Are Homesick
G.I.s are homesick in China, but they aren't parading or rioting. Wedemeyer at the age of 48 is the youngest theater commander in the army. He is frequently being described as "a diplomatic general—not a tank general." But he doesn't concur in one respect.

"A diplomat uses mysterious language. I don't," he says.

Wedemeyer's home is in Omaha, Neb. His wife lives there but his two sons are in military training, one at West Point and one at Staunton Military Academy.

Wedemeyer made a name for himself in Baseball at West Point, and broke his nose in the process.

Wedemeyer served for a considerable time on the U. S. Army general staff. Then he participated in the Sicilian landings as a combat leader under the late Lt. Gen. George Patton.

Studied In Germany
He received part of his education in Germany in the years just before the war, and as American representative he attended the German War College in Berlin from 1936 to 1938. For that reason he expected to be sent into Europe rather than China.

At the time he took over, he declares, America had a "nebulous policy, which put me into a delicate position. You see, we didn't want to give away to other nations the fact he had a nebulous policy. It was a rather delicate situation for a while."

Now Wedemeyer says he feels he has a definite policy to work by. He points to Truman's Navy Day speech as a "fine Bible" which was further clarified on December 15 when the president left no doubt the U. S. wanted to see internal peace in China and that America would support Chiang Kai-Shek as the duly recognized leader of China.

Likes Chinese
Wedemeyer doesn't think the people of the United States, however, are interested enough in world problems to want to make sacrifices for the end of civil strife in China. "They want to participate intelligently and realistically," he said, "but when they have to make sacrifices, like when their sons are involved, they are reluctant to do it. They haven't yet reached full acceptance of their responsibilities in this world."

Wedemeyer likes China and admires the individual Chinese, the peasants and the small shopkeepers.

"I like them all," he says.

Final Showdown After Hours of White House Negotiations

Schwellenbach asking Fairless if he had any new proposal for breaking the deadlock. Fairless replied that his company's position remained the same. The offer stood at 15 cents an hour increase, Fairless said, no more.

Schwellenbach put the same question to Murray, who replied that he couldn't drop lower than 19½ cents an hour. Schwellenbach then left the room, told the two men to get together. A few minutes later Steelman also walked out.

"Well, what did you fellows decide?" Murray asked Fairless, referring to the conference held the day before with other leaders of the steel industry.

Offer Unchanged
Fairless replied that the industry's offer remained the same. Murray started to discuss the subject, mentioning the fact that the government was treating the steel industry very fairly by offering it a $4.00-ton increase in price.

"Don't argue with me, Phil," Fairless replied. "Please don't argue. You know my offer and it still stands. I can't go higher."

Murray did continue arguing, but to no avail. Fairless sat silent. Finally advising Murray to save his strength.

"There's no use arguing, Phil. You might as well take it easy," he said. "I can't go any higher."

So the two men sat for almost an hour, Murray occasionally trying to break the deadlock, but Fairless not budging. Finally a White House aide came in and escorted both to separate rooms. There they sat almost in solitary confinement for an hour and a half reading the newspapers. Finally both men were brought back to the cabinet room. Finally at 6:30 Steelman suggested the conference recess for dinner.

Two Met Again
After dinner, the two men met again in the cabinet room. They were advised that the president who was scheduled to accompany Mrs. Truman to a concert had cancelled his plan and would be in his office. For another hour, Fairless and Murray sat and chatted. Murray, the Scottish-born coal miner who had risen to head one of the great labor groups, tried to reopen the negotiations. Fairless, a former Ohio school teacher, who had climbed the ladder to head one of the biggest corporations in America, still stood pat.

Shortly after 9 p. m., both men were brought into Truman's office again. This time the president was snappish.

"I've asked you to settle this and you haven't," Truman said. "Now I'm going to give you a dose of medicine neither of you is going to like. You report back here tomorrow at 2 p. m., and you'll find out what it is."

Next day Murray and Fairless were barely seated when the president opened up:

"I've examined this whole matter very carefully," he said, looking angrily at Fairless, "and it's very clear to me. I have a proposition for you. I want both of you to agree to an increase of 18½ cents an hour for the steel workers, retroactive to January first."

Quite a Shock
"Why, Mr. President," Fairless said, "this is quite a shock."

Truman brushed aside Fairless' objections.

"I've examined this whole case thoroughly," the president replied, "and 18½ cents seems reasonable. But I want your answer by 8 o'clock tonight."

Fairless was furious.

"But," he protested. "I can't

Fleet Would Have Been Safe On West Coast

Kimmel Tells Committee in Pearl Harbor Hearing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—(P)—Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel testified today the Japanese made their "greatest mistake" by attacking the American fleet at Pearl Harbor and failing to put the base itself out of commission.

In his sixth day before a Senate-House inquiry committee, the former Pacific fleet commander, said it was probable no attack would have been attempted if the American ships had been sent back to the west coast.

Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.) noted that Kimmel's predecessor, Admiral J. O. Richardson, had sought unsuccessfully to take his ships back to the west coast to prepare them for war but was told by Washington officials that the fleet was to be kept in Hawaii as a deterrent to Japanese aggressive moves.

Gearhart said there had been "a studied effort—almost a frantic effort on the part of some committee members to develop the idea that the presence of the fleet in Hawaii was in some way a deterrent to Japan."

Parratt was the driver of a 1935 V-8 Ford coach which collided with a 1936 V-8 Ford coach driven by Raymond Walters, on Highway 52 near the junction of Highway 52 and 65 in Pettis county, about 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning. Both automobiles were practically demolished.

Government Is Threatened

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—(P)—The labor-management situation has reached the point where "it threatens the stability of government itself," Senator Capper (R-Kas.) declared today.

"I feel myself coming to the point where I will have to conclude that congress will have to enact legislation that will regulate labor as well as finance and industry," he said in a statement.

"I don't want to get to that point because the road will lead to the end of both free enterprise and free labor."

"It is going to raise hob with smaller employers when they have to meet the wage scales of GM and Steel, especially if Mr. Chester Bowles (OPA administrator) persuades congress to allow him to continue to hold down prices to levels of four years ago, or even five years ago," he added.

"Little industries are the ones that are going to take a beating—and so are consumers and especially those who are living in part or in whole upon investments, savings, insurance or pensions."

U. S. Pictures Have Effect on Spanish Life

Careful Selection Should be Made if Shown Abroad

MADRID, Jan. 21—American motion pictures are having a marked effect on Spanish life, and by the same token are destined to play their part in international relations — facts which impose on Hollywood the obligation of seeing that nothing which might damage is exported.

To the Spanish public the Hollywood movies are the reflection of a Utopian way of life. America is the enchanted land of wonders and plenty.

One very noticeable influence of Hollywood is on feminine hair dress, makeup and fashions. The women of Spain, who are among the most beautiful in the world, are copying American filmdom. American music also is being introduced in this manner, as well as American dancing — including jitterbugging.

Interest in U. S. Cars
However, the thing reaches deeper than that. The folk of Spain are intensely interested in American automobiles, in our modes of travel, in the magic contrivances we have for the kitchen, and in labor saving equipment for our business offices.

And the interest isn't merely academic. The Spanish are excellent copyists. They make adaptations of many things they see in pictures.

American movies are preferred in Spain. Last year 133 American pictures were released here and these were 62 percent of all the films shown in the country. It's interesting to note that Mexican films released are increasing. According to available records two Mexican pictures were shown here in 1944 thirteen last year and the forecast for this year runs to 50.

Spain herself produces an average of 40 pictures a year, but the industry still has far to go in development, which was hampered by the civil war of 1936-39 and the ensuing World War. However, this country is doing a magnificent job of sound retraction. This involves the substitution of Spanish dialogue for English and is difficult, since it calls for the synchronization of the English language lip movement and the Spanish language.

Of course the exchange of pictures should develop better acquaintance among the various peoples, and this in the long run should help international relations. Unfortunately, however, some American pictures shown in Europe give a false impression of American life and morals.

Some Misleading
For instance some types of gangster pictures are wholly untrue and misleading.

Pictures showing wholesale marital infidelity also create decidedly bad ideas about American morals.

In short, a lot of highly imaginative and over sophisticated pictures which citizens of the USA take in stride as utter fiction are accepted abroad as true. This type of picture can do more damage in a year than all the diplomats can repair in a generation.

And the moral of all this is that the selection of pictures in America for foreign consumption should be most carefully made.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 21.—(P)—
The handwriting on the wall says any team that beats the Kansas Jayhawks out of the Big Six basketball title first will have to stop Charlie Black.

In four conference games to date, Big Six teams have had no more success stopping the ex-army Air Corps Captain than did the enemy of Black's fifty-one reconnaissance flights over axis held territory.

Head man in scoring in all games played since early December, Black took the scoring lead in Big Six games away from Dave Weatherby of Kansas State by sinking 28 points against tough Oklahoma in a crucial game the past week.

Thirteen games put Black for in front of the scorers with a grand total of 219 points, an average of 16.8 per evening. In four conference tilts the Jayhawk star had tallied 77 points, compared with 61 for Weatherby in five contests.

Richmond Open To Tony Penna

RICHMOND, Calif., Jan. 21.—
(P)—Little Tony Penna, colorful Dayton, O., professional golfer and winner of the Richmond Open, pocketed $2,000 in Victory bonds today and headed for Phoenix, next stop on the winter tournament circuit.

Penna led a fast field to the wire in the final lap of the Richmond 72-hole, posting a total of 280. He was tied for second on the opening day and moved out in front in the second round, when he uncorked a dazzling 65, six under par, and the best 18-hole score during the four days.
Penna put together rounds of 69-65-73-73 for his 280.

The final round produced a thrilling climax when Penna, needing a birdie 4 to win, rolled in a putt of about six feet.

Three stars, Sam Byrd, Detroit; Mark Fry, Oakland, Calif., and Ben Hogan, Hershey, Pa., were deadlocked with a chance for first at 281 when 38-year old Penna dropped his winning putt.

Byrd, Fry and Hogan each collected $1,011 in bonds for their second place tie at 281 at Richmond.

Charles Congdon, Tacoma, Wash., took fifth prize, $666 in bonds, with his 282.

Jimmy Hines, Chicago, who started in second spot behind Penna in the last round, ended in a 283 tie with Jim Ferrier,
Chicago. Former PGA champion
Bob Hamilton, Chicago, earned a 285 stand-off with the tournament's leading amateur Charles Stolhand, Ponca City, Okla.

Two of the pre-tournament favorites, Harold McSpaden, Sanford, Me., and Jim Demaret of Houston, Tex., shared a fiveway tie at 268.

Bobby Bruns, Chicago, former heavyweight wrestling champion, is coming to Sedalia Tuesday night and will be matched against "Rube" Wright, Los Angeles, California. Bruns, recently discharged from the service is in perfect condition and having resumed the mat athletics is expected to give Wright a beating.

Marshall Estep, Sturgeon, Mo., has been taking a vacation from the Sedalia ring for the past several weeks, other than refereeing a match. Estep in coming back is matched with one of his ring enemies—Jack Hader of Kansas City. Both have wrestled each other in the local ring twice, each having won one watch.

The Estep-Hader match will be the semi-winup.

Opening the evening wrestling

Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(P)— Some eastern college athletic leaders, exasperated at the "do nothing" attitude of the National Collegiate A. A. at its recent St.
Louis meeting, are talking about attending next year's gathering in New York to "take charge." . . .
But they're likely to find themselves opposed by a bloc which figures the N. C. A. A. shouldn't try to regulate athletics too much because of the difficulty in finding a common ground between the colleges that can afford to have ideals and those which have to make football pay. . . . "We probably will have to go out and get athletes in self defense," one eastern athletic director explained.
"There's going to be an awful rush to get returning GI athletes.
And the new 'ivy league' won't help out. Some of those schools will be just as bad as some southern colleges when it comes to subsidizing."

Monday Matinee

The Holy Cross-Rhode Island,
Boston College-Providence basketball doubleheader Thursday was a sellout a week in advance—the first the Boston Garden has enjoyed. . . . Holy Cross, incidentally, may try for a football pairing with St. Mary's of California to take the place of the old Fordham-St. Mary's rivalry. It would be a good start to get the two bowl teams together next fall. . . . Big Gil Bouley is reported to have earned $9,500 since he quit Cornell to join the Cleveland Rams. That's not bad dough for a second string tackle.
. . . Broadway Johnny Cox, the
"verce" of New Orleans boxing, maintains that now is the time to find a good young American flyweight and take him on tour of Britain, Ireland, Australia and other spots where flyweights hold forth. . . . A guy who has been watching six-foot nine-inch basketball players wonders where you'll find a flyweight over ten years old.

The telephone company reports to those waiting for service

The telephone company is anxious to bring you the service you've ordered.

Telephone factories are working hard at the tremendous task of catching up with America's backed-up demand for telephone service. (More than 2,000,000 people are waiting throughout the nation.)

In December factories were making telephone instruments at the rate of 230,000 a month. By January 1, in the five states served by this company, about 60,000 of these newly manufactured instruments already had been installed.

But making and installing telephone instruments is only a part of the job of providing service for everybody.
We are planning, making, and installing the great volume of switchboards, dial equipment, cable, wire—and even buildings—necessary to make those telephones work.

By the year's end, enough central office equipment to connect 40,000 additional telephones had been made and installed in this company's territory.
This is the time-taking part of the job—the apparatus is complicated to Miles and miles of cable to connect telephones with central offices have been put in since the end of the war;

and in the last few weeks, by reason of increased supplies of men and material, the rate of installation has doubled.

No time has been lost in getting building projects under way in places where new construction is needed to house additional central office equipment.

We have made progress—and every month during the coming year our progress will be still more rapid. Every one will get service in his proper turn.
Your service once ordered, you can be sure that your application is before us; and as soon as the equipment is available to connect your telephone, we will notify you and arrange details for providing your service.

Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 — The Pearl Harbor Investigating committee has now spent nearly three months digging into military-naval-political reasons why we were caught asleep on Dec. 7, 1941. While this is important, all the facts show that Japan would have attacked anyway; if not at Pearl Harbor, at some other place and if not on Dec. 7, at some other time.

Meanwhile, we have seized various documents from the Japs, showing that this war was carefully built up over a period of years and that certain American munitions makers were either unsuspecting or deliberate Jap co-partners.

If we are to prevent war in the future — and that presumably is one motive of the Pearl Harbor committee — the manner in which American business aided the Japs to prepare for Pearl Harbor is important. We must build up machinery so this does not happen again.

When the Japs dive-bombed on unsuspecting battleships on the morning of Dec. 7, word went round that they had evolved a new and powerful fighter plane — the Zero. All during the early months of the war, the Jap Zero was a match, sometimes more than a match for U. S. fighters.

Zero Mystery Clarified

The mystery of how the Japs developed their famous Zero is now in government files, seized from the Japanese, and proves to be no great mystery. The Japs bought the original Zero from an American company, Chance Vought, a division of United Aircraft. They modified it a lot, and the Chance Vought people now piously claim it is not there plane, but aviation experts say that unquestionably it gave the Japs a big lift toward developing their Zero.

At the date of purchase, there was no embargo, moral or otherwise, against selling planes to Japan, and Chance Vought vio-

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood extract by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

lated no law, though Secretary Hull invoked his moral embargo shortly thereafter. However, it is important to remember that Japan was then at war with China, that Baron Tanaka and other Jap leaders were bragging about plans to conquer all Asia, and that Henry L. Stimson, as early as 1931, had tried to rally the League of Nations to prevent Japan's conquest of Manchuria.

The official policy of this government was to refuse recognition of Japanese conquest in China. We had also signed the Kellogg pact outlawing war. Finally, we had signed the nine-power pact guaranteeing China from outside invasion. Nevertheless, our munitions makers not only sold important war goods to a nation which violated all of the above—but they did so with the okay of our Army and Navy.

Thus the U. S. Army and Navy not only put themselves in opposition to the foreign policy of the United States but they built up more death and destruction for themselves — and the rest of the nation — when the Japs finally struck at Pearl Harbor.

If the Pearl Harbor committee is sincere about getting at those responsible for this war, and preventing war in the future, this is something they might well investigate.

All the Jap files, now seized, show that the Japs were interested not in commercial, but military planes. The files also show that American munitions makers were eager to get this business, actually sent experts to help the Japs manufacture our planes and carried favor with the Japs in every possible way. For instance, in the Jap report quoted below, the manager of United Aircraft talks about a price reduction to the Japs if they finally decided to buy what later became the Zero.

Japs Secret Report

The report, translated from the Japanese text, was written by Jap agents in New York to Tokyo and is captioned: "Re negotiations Chance Vought V-143 Pursuit Aircraft by Navy Captain Wata." Dated May 4, 1938, the report says:

"1. The recent development of the European airplane is remarkable but American make is best."

"2. The main reason for the Japanese navy spending from 2 to 3 million dollars in America yearly is to promote the continuous technical cooperation between American manufacturers and Japanese companies. (Under scoring supplied.)"

"3. About Wright Aeronautical Corp. which has continually extended good will toward Japan. He thinks Japan can make about 100 Cyclones engines yearly at least and she can pay its royalty to the company."

"4. If any American private company gets release for a new machine, he wants us to recommend it to the Japanese navy promptly."

In the meantime, attracting Captain Wata's interest is Chance Vought V-143 single seat fighter. The reasons are as follows:

"A. When, in Europe, the Captain met the arm's broker, Mr. Gasda, who highly recommended this machine to him — it is the most superior single-seat fighter in the world especially if both wings are furnished with aerolikan wing cannon. There is plenty of space for its equipment."

"B. In his judgement, even this machine can't win in the army's competition, but it is not inferior to the winner."

"C. It is necessary for the (Japanese) navy to import fighter planes sooner or later despite the fact that we bought all kinds of big and small bombers and amphibian flying boats for research from them, but the fighter was neglected."

"5. Following up Captain Wata's request, we asked Chance Vought Co. for a demonstration of V-143 machine when Captain Wata's party came out to Hartford on April 26th. That company had Mr. Allen, a first-class American pilot, demonstrate the machine for us, and our party contacted the company's president, Mr. Wilson (Eugene E. Wilson, an Annapolis graduate and ex-commander U. S. navy) and the engineering director, Mr. McCarthy. We heard their explanation as follows:

"This plane should be furnished with aerolikan wing cannon. It will be a simple matter for Aerlikan Co. to mount the cannon because they are very skillful and the intensity of the wings will not change because of this work. If Japan wants to import Aerlikan, Chance Vought Co. will supply it."

"United Aircraft export manager, Mr. Hamilton would like to arrange for us a price reduction if Japan actually wants to buy the machine. We told him that we will confer with Captain Wata for his suggestion."

Munitions Lobbies

One thing the Pearl Harbor committee might well investigate is the way lobbies developed in Washington to put pressure on the government to sell war goods to Japan. These lobbies, representing oil, gasoline, scrap iron, airplanes, machine tools, made a lot of headway with the army and navy, sometimes with the state department.

One man they never affected was Harold Ickes. As secretary of the interior he controls the export of helium gas, and at exactly the same month the above report was written, the Germans were trying to buy helium from the USA for their Zeppelins.

The army, the navy and Secretary of State Hull gave their PIKE got back to the inn at noon. There had been no registered letter at the postoffice.

As he entered the lobby, Pike saw a girl at the desk talking with Mr. Hitt. Mr. Hitt was moving his white hands defensively. Pike heard the black-haired girl's voice rising on a musical but distinctly audible note.

"It's outrageous," she said. "All I require is a room within reasonable proximity to a bath." She turned side eyes upon Pike, then turned back to Mr. Hitt.

"Eighteen dollars just for a—?" She stopped. Slowly her eyes swung back to Pike.

"Hello, Lois," he said. "Her flushed cheeks grew darker."

"So," she said. "You're here!" Pike didn't deny that.

"Do you realize," she said, "that I have practically everybody in the Western Hemisphere looking on lonely beaches and barren hillsides for your charred bones?" "Good for you," Pike muttered and took her arm. "You're hungry."

"Don't you try to sweet-talk me, Pike Calvin." She jerked her arm free. "Besides I have not finished with this gentleman."

"Madam," began Mr. Hitt. "You," Lois pointed an accusing finger at Mr. Hitt, "are encouraging inflation."

"Lois," Pike said.

"Inflation could lose the peace."

Mr. Hitt looked at Pike. He moved his white hands helplessly. For a moment Pike felt a little sorry for him. He got Lois' arm. He said:

"Mr. Hitt merely works here."

"He can quit, can't he," Lois said.

PIKE got Lois into the dining room.

"What's the idea?" he said.

"Was I good?" she said.

okay. But Ickes said no — unless American inspectors were stationed in Germany to see how the helium was used. Finally the question came up in cabinet meeting. Secretary Hull gave a long speech telling why it was perfectly safe to sell helium to Germany without inspection. As the vote went round the table, every cabinet member voted against Ickes.

But Ickes still said no. Under the law, the secretary of the interior has absolute control over the export of helium. No one can overrule him. So finally FDR turned to Ickes and said:

"Well, Harold, you're the boss. You win."

Bed Springs by Air

This column recently told how GOP congressman Albert Engel of Michigan, the capitol's one-man detective bureau, turned up some alarming facts about the burning of army equipment at Karachi, India.

An interesting sequel to the story occurred while Engel's subcommittee was inspecting an army rest home for convalescent soldiers in Rome. A colonel was hustling the legislators through the home when Engel suddenly decided he wanted to look things over more carefully.

Going to the sleeping quarters, Engel turned up a thin mattress on the first double bunk he came

MAN HAD BRICK IN HIS STOMACH FOR 10 YEARS

One man recently stated that for 10 years he felt like he had a brick in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside of him. He was weak, worn out, headachy, swollen with gas and terribly constipated. Recently he started taking ERB-HELP and says the feeling like a brick in his stomach disappeared the second day. Bowels are regular now, gas and headaches are gone and he feels like a new man.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering. Get ERB-HELP. Sold by All Drug Stores here in Sedalia.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION OF NOTICE

Circuit Court For The County of Pettis, State of Missouri

Raymond F. Hood, Plaintiff, vs.

Virginia M. Hood, Defendant.

Order For Publication of Notice

On this 5th day of January, 1946, it appearing from the verified application of plaintiff for an order allowing service by publication, that defendant, Virginia M. Hood, cannot be personally served within this state, it is ordered that the application of plaintiff be granted and that service by publication upon said defendant be had as provided by law and that said defendant be and is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against said defendant in the circuit court for the County of Pettis, Missouri, the object and general nature of which is to dissolve the bonds of matrimony heretofore contracted between the plaintiff and defendant herein;

And that said defendant be and is hereby further notified that the name and address of the attorneys for plaintiff is Montgomery, Martin and Salver, Sedalia Trust Building, Sedalia, Missouri, and that said defendant is required to appear and defend this action within 45 days after the 7th day of January, 1946, and in case of failure so to do judgment by default will be rendered against said defendant.

And it is further ordered that a copy hereof be published according to law in The Sedalia Democrat, a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in the County of Pettis, State of Missouri.

Witness my hand and the seal of the circuit court this 5th day of January, 1946.

BRYAN HOWE, Circuit Clerk.

(Seal) By MILDRED SUTHERLAND, Deputy Clerk.

"Who sent you?" "Sam."

"What for?" "He wants you out of here, darling. But quick."

Pike smiled. Lois said:

"First, I'm supposed to ask you nicely. Then I tell you the score and, if you have the brains God gave a goose, you'll flit."

"You've got the dope on Butler?"

She nodded.

"Where?" he asked.

"In here." She pointed to her head.

"It'll be lonesome," Pike said.

"Later," she said.

"What?"

"Too public," she said. "After dinner I'll tell you."

"I don't see anyone," Pike said.

"I do," Lois said.

It was Fay Tudor. She entered the dining room. She saw Pike. Then she saw Lois, and her green eyes widened perceptibly. She gave Pike an odd look, went to the other end of the room, and sat down.

"So," Lois said.

"That stunning creature with the red hair?"

"What about her?"

"She is in?"

"She's John Clay's niece," Pike said.

Lois puckered attractive red lips and whistled softly. She said:

"I've got competition."

They had lunch. Then Pike walked Lois through the lobby, and she held on to his arm with both hands. She looked demure and possessive. They passed Mr. Hitt and Roger Bland.

"Who," Lois said, "belongs to the teeth?"

"His name is Bland," Pike said.

"A scavenger," she said.

Pike looked at her. Sometimes she was alarmingly acute. He took her down across the lawn and out onto the Valley Road.

"Now," he said, "let's have it."

There was no spring underneath, only boards. Engel threw himself heavily on the bunk. The Michiganander is stockily-built, tips the scales at close to 200 pounds.

That evening Congressman Engel related his experience at a banquet given by staff officers in Rome. He pointed out that in all the officers' quarters he had visited in Rome there were comfortable beds, with springs.

"We do our best for these boys," a brigadier general spoke up quickly. "We try to give them everything they need. Those beds in the rest home aren't so bad. Any of those boys will tell you it's better than sleeping in a foxhole."

Engel fixed the general with a flinty eye.

"When I was India," he said, "I learned to my amazement that the army had hauled several hundred springs and mattresses by plane from Khartoum, Egypt, and from Cairo — 3,000 miles — for the officers' club in Karachi. If the army can do this, it certainly can provide a few bed springs for convalescent soldiers here in Rome.

"The trouble with you, general," concluded the congressman, "is that you don't know the war's over."

VIC FLINT

When I left Judge Garrissy I headed for my office. Libby Lang was waiting for me.

WHAT ARE YOU STICKING AROUND FOR, LIBBY?

MR. FLINT, YOU'RE BEING WATCHED! A MAN FOLLOWED YOU OUT THIS MORNING. I HEARD HIM ASK THE ELEVATOR STARTER WHO YOU WERE.

MAYBE HE WAS A PROSPECTIVE CLIENT, LOOKING ME OVER. WHAT DID HE LOOK LIKE?

A BIG BRUISER. HE WAS ENORMOUS. OH, VIC, PLEASE BE CAREFUL.

LAUGHED IT OFF AND WENT UP TO MY OFFICE.

ANYWAY, IT WAS NICE OF HER TO WARN ME. AND SHE CALLED ME VIC, TOO. THAT DIDN'T MAKE ME MAD.

NEVER MIND TURNING ON THE LIGHTS. ARE YOU VIC FLINT?

BY MICHAEL O'MALLEY AND RALPH LANE

But I laughed too soon. Trouble was waiting for me inside.

Beautiful bouquets of flowers used throughout the home and centering the lace covered dining room table were the gifts of friends and the Quisenberry Homemakers club.

Mrs. Paul Read and Mrs. Granville Thompson presided at the punch bowl.

Sixty-five guests registered in the guest book during the evening.

Two surprises of the day were a birthday cake baked by her granddaughter Mrs. Herman Dahl of Tipton and delivered by Mr. Dahl, and a telephone call from her grandson, Ralph Salmon and family, 602 West Sixteenth street, at the noon hour.

Mrs. Drake, known in the Fortuna vicinity as "Aunt Cinda" resides on the land homesteaded in Montevideo county more than 100 years ago by her father-in-law, the late Asa Drake. Though she has been blind for the past eight years, she is cheerful and enjoys fair health. Her daughter Mrs. Ola Drake Hann, lives with her.

A basket dinner was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Smethers and children, Andrea Mae, Linda Karen and Charles Michael, 1613 South Montgomery avenue, in honor of Mr. Smethers' thirtieth birthday anniversary.

Others attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smethers, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Smethers and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Smethers, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Morrison and Mrs. H. E. Richardson and daughter, Glenda.

Miss Hazel Marie Haller, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Haller of Warburg and Frederick R. Gatschet, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gatschet, Warburg, were married in the Fifth Street Methodist church parsonage, 315 West Fourth street, at noon Sunday, January 20 by the Rev. H. U. Campbell, using the single ring ceremony. Looking Backward Forty Years Ago

Louis M. Monsees bought the W. H. Stotts farm of 180 acres, for which he paid $12,000. The Stotts farm adjoins the Limestone Valley stock farm on the east and the addition will give Mr. Monsees about 500 acres in a body making Limestone Valley one of the best stock farms in Central Missouri.

A. Arnold, the Kentucky street horse and mule dealer, went to LaMonte Saturday and bought of J. M. Carpenter a pair of extra fine gray draft horses, which weighed 3,000 pounds and for which he paid $350.

Mrs. Offield's School of Expression will give a grand concert at the First Congregational church on Thursday evening and it is believed it will be the best entertainment yet given by Mrs. Offield's pupils.

The Land of Nod company to be seen at the New Sedalia theater Wednesday night, will arrive here on a special train that day, via the Missouri Pacific, direct from Alton, Ill.

Frank B. Moore, a former Sedalia newspaper man, who for the past five years has been connected with the New York Morning Commercial in various editorial capacities, resigned his position last Saturday for a year of travel abroad and will sail within the next fortnight.

Red Cross Corner

The speech of the Commander in Chief, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Friday night, gave to the whole listening world, a clear picture of the size of the United States Army required for the maintenance of our hard won peace. A figure something over the one million mark. It is expected that the occupational forces will be well cared for. Better cared for than any army the world has ever known. As an integral part of that care, it will be the privilege of the American Red Cross to provide those men with a certain part of their equipment. We have already begun one of our peacetime projects: the knitting of OD sweaters. We regret the fact that some of our knitters seem to think that the end of hostilities in both the European and Pacific theatres meant the end of Red Cross endeavor. It did not. The Red Cross is continuing its great work into the peace era, and its activities have changed to meet new demands; they have not lessened. So to our knitters, may we say now: your work is just as important and vital as it was this time last year. It is cold in Europe, terribly cold. And these sweaters which the Red Cross volunteers are asked to make will go far toward providing the warmth that is so necessary for the preservation of morale. This present consignment of yarn is ready for distribution. We urge your cooperation.

The Camp and Hospital Council met at the Sedalia Army Air Field Friday afternoon with R. F. Osgood, of the USO, Mrs. C. F. Fischer and Miss Francine Fischer as representatives of Pettis county. Among other work assumed by our Chapter, Mrs. Fischer undertook the responsibility of the repairs of four chairs that are used in the hospital. It is understood that the work of the camp and Hospital Council is to become virtually a permanent service. Also at this time members of the Red Cross Canteen went to the SAAF and served refreshments to the Council. They were: Mrs. H. F. Rapp, Mrs. Norman Bockelman, and Mrs. John Staubli.

The work of the Red Cross Sewing Room is progressing satisfactorily. The making of slips and petticoats to be sent to the women of war-devastated Europe is going accomplished in time for the required shipment, the 1st of February. Mrs. George L. Dryden is chairman of this service.
